Class A shares of a fund must not be sold in an amount that is "just below" a fund's sales load discount simply to earn a higher commission. It is important that investors be advised whether the investor is entitled to receive a sales load discount as well as how the fund establishes eligibility for breakpoint discounts (e.g., "household" discounts, previous purchases, letter of intent or aggregate investments).

Please see the fund's prospectus for details on any applicable distribution fees or shareholder services fees or other fees payable to service agents.

NOTE: Sales load differentials may be charged when exchanging shares from low load to high load funds. Sales Load percent and To Dealer percent are based on offering price.

Letter of Intent lets you purchase Class A shares over a 13-month period at a reduced sales charge. Consult the Statement of Additional Information (SAI) for more details.
