This report describes changes to the Fund that occurred during the reporting period.

What were the Fund’s costs for the last year?

(based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

Share Class	Costs of a $10,000 investment	Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment
Class I*	$114	1.04%

* During the period, fees were waived and/or expenses reimbursed pursuant to an agreement with the Fund's investment adviser, BNY Mellon Investment Adviser, Inc. If this agreement is not extended in the future, expenses could be higher.

How did the Fund perform last year?

- For the 12-month period ended September 30, 2024, the Fund’s Class I shares returned 18.75%.
- In comparison, the Russell 2000® Value Index (the “Index”) returned 25.88% for the same period.

What affected the Fund’s performance?

- Small-cap, value-oriented U.S. stocks generally rose during the period due to moderating inflation and positive outlooks as the U.S. Federal Reserve began to cut interest rates.
- The greatest contributions to the Fund’s relative returns came from stock selection in industrials, real estate and energy, including positions in certain strong-performing, out-of-Index industrial sector names.
- Secondary positive contributors to relative performance included positioning within health care, including underweight exposure to certain underperforming names in the Index.
- The most significant detractors from relative performance included stock selection in the consumer discretionary, health care and financials sectors, along with overweight positions in certain underperforming energy sector names.
- Additional detractors included stock selection in communication services and information technology, particularly due to the Fund's overweight exposure to certain underperforming names.

How did the Fund perform over the past 10 years?

The Fund's past performance is not a good predictor of the Fund's future performance. The graph and table do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on fund distributions or redemption of fund shares.

Cumulative Performance from October 1, 2014 through September 30, 2024 Initial Investment of $10,000

The above graph compares a hypothetical $10,000 investment in the Fund's Class I shares to a hypothetical investment of $10,000 made in each of the Russell 3000® Index (a broad-based index) and Russell 2000® Value Index on 9/30/2014. The performance shown takes into account applicable fees and expenses of the Fund, including management fees and other expenses. The Fund's performance also assumes the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains. Unlike the Fund, the indexes are not subject to charges, fees and other expenses. Investors cannot invest directly in any index.
