Growth of a $10,000 Investment
A hypothetical $10,000 investment in the fund's Investor Shares on 6/19/91 would have been worth $155,382 on 3/31/20.

Assumes reinvestment of dividends and capital gains. Performance for the fund’s other share classes would vary.

Historical Performance (CL.I @ NAV)

Average Annual Total Returns (3/31/20)

The performance data quoted represents past performance, which is no guarantee of future results. Share price and investment return fluctuate, and an investor’s shares may be worth more or less than original cost upon redemption. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. Performance for periods less than 1 year is not annualized. Go to im.bnymellon.com for the fund’s most recent month-end returns. The net expense ratio reflects a contractual expense reduction agreement, without which, the returns would have been lower. The agreement may not be amended without the approval of the fund’s shareholders. Total Expense Ratios: Investor Shares 0.50%, Class I 0.25%. Not all classes of shares may be available to all investors or through all broker-dealer platforms.

1The total return performance figures for Class I shares of the fund represent the performance of the fund’s Investor shares, for periods prior to 8/31/16, the inception date for Class I shares, and the performance of Class I from that inception date. Performance reflects the applicable class’s distribution/servicing fees since the inception date. Investors should consider, when deciding whether to purchase a particular class of shares, the investment amount, class restrictions, anticipated holding period and other relevant factors. 2Portfolio composition is as of 3/31/20 and is subject to change at any time. Asset Exposure percentages include any exposure through long futures positions but do not include any short positions or currency transactions. 3Performance figures may reflect reimbursements or fee waivers, without which the performance would have been lower. 4Source: FactSet. The S&P MidCap 400® Index provides investors with a benchmark for midsized companies. The index measures the performance of midsized companies, reflecting the distinctive risk and return characteristics of this market segment. 5Standard and Poor’s®, "S&P®", and "MidCap 400® Index" are registered trademarks of Standard & Poor's Financial Services LLC, and have been licensed for use by the fund. Investors should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of a mutual fund carefully before investing. To obtain a prospectus, or a summary prospectus, if available, that contains this and other information about a fund, contact your financial advisor or visit im.bnymellon.com. Read the prospectus carefully before investing. Investors should discuss with their advisor the eligibility requirements for Class I shares, which are available only to certain eligible investors, and the historical results achieved by the fund's respective share classes.

Asset Exposure percentages include any exposure through long futures positions but do not include any short positions or currency transactions.

Risks: Equities are subject to market, market sector, market liquidity, issuer, and investment style risks, among other factors, to varying degrees. An indexing strategy does not attempt to manage market volatility, use defensive strategies or reduce the effects of any long-term periods of poor stock performance. Small and mid-sized company stocks tend to be more volatile and less liquid than larger company stocks as these companies are less established and have more volatile earnings histories. Recent market risks include pandemic risks related to COVID-19. The effects of COVID-19 will likely affect certain countries, companies, industries and market sectors more dramatically than others. To the extent the fund may overweight its investments in certain countries, companies, industries or market sectors, such positions will increase the fund's exposure to risk of loss from adverse developments affecting those countries, companies, industries or sectors.
