Growth of a $10,000 Investment

A hypothetical $10,000 investment in the fund's Class A shares on 1/1/88 would have been worth $362,444 on 3/31/20.

This does not reflect the 5.75% maximum front-end sales load applicable to Class A shares which, if reflected, would have lowered performance. Assumes reinvestment of dividends and capital gains. Performance for the fund's other share classes would vary.

The performance data quoted represents past performance, which is no guarantee of future results. Share price and investment return fluctuate, and an investor's shares may be worth more or less than original cost upon redemption. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. Performance for periods less than 1 year is not annualized. Go to im.bnymellon.com for the fund's most recent month-end returns. Total Expense Ratios: Class A 0.98%, Class C 1.74%, Class I 0.74%, Class Z 0.76%, Class Y 0.64%. Not all classes of shares may be available to all investors or through all broker-dealer platforms.

Class Z shares generally are not available for new accounts. Please see the fund's prospectus for details.

On 3/31/09 existing shares were designated Class I shares and the fund began to offer Class A and C shares. The total return performance figures for Class A presented for periods prior to 3/31/09 reflect the performance of the fund's Class I shares, adjusted to reflect the applicable sales load for that class. The total return performance figures for Class Z and Class Y shares of the fund represent the performance of the fund's Class I shares for periods prior to 1/1/88 and 7/1/13, the inception date for Class Z and Class Y shares, and the performance of Class Z and Class Y, respectively, from that inception date. Performance reflects the applicable class's distribution/servicing fees since the inception date. Had these fees and expenses been reflected for periods prior, performance would have been different. Investors should consider, when deciding whether to purchase a particular class of shares, the investment amount, anticipated holding period and other relevant factors. Portfolio composition is as of 3/31/2020 and is subject to change at any time.

Performance figures may reflect reimbursements or fee waivers, without which the performance would have been lower. Source: FactSet. The Russell 2500 Growth Index measures the performance of the small- to mid-cap growth segment of the U.S. equity universe. It includes those Russell 2500 companies with higher growth earning potential as defined by Russell's leading style methodology. The Russell 2500 Growth Index is constructed to provide a comprehensive and unbiased barometer of the small- to mid-cap growth market. The index is completely reconstituted annually to ensure larger stocks do not distort the performance and characteristics of the true small- to mid-cap opportunity set and that the represented companies continue to reflect growth characteristics. Investors cannot invest directly in any index.

The fund may overweight its investments in certain countries, companies, industries or market sectors, such positions will increase the fund's exposure to risk of loss from adverse developments affecting those positions.

The effects of COVID-19 have contributed to increased volatility in global markets and will likely affect certain countries, companies, industries and market sectors more dramatically than others. To the extent the fund's investments are in countries, companies, industries or market sectors that are sensitive to the impact of COVID-19, investors should consider the risks associated with such investments.

Volatility and liquidity of an investment may be affected by market factors as well as economic and political events. Volatility refers to the extent to which the price of a security, or an investment in general, fluctuates over a period of time. Liquidity refers to the ability to buy or sell a security quickly and at a price close to its market value.

The fund invests in small and mid cap companies as these companies are less established and have more volatile earnings histories. The fund is subject to market, market sector, market liquidity, issuer, and investment style risks, among other factors, to varying degrees. Small and midsized company stocks tend to be more volatile and less liquid than larger company stocks as these companies are less established and have more volatile earnings histories.

Investors should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of a mutual fund carefully before investing. To obtain a prospectus, or a summary prospectus, if available, that contains this and other information about a fund, contact your financial advisor or visit im.bnymellon.com. Read the prospectus carefully before investing. Investors should discuss with their advisor the eligibility requirements for Class I and Y shares, which are available only to certain eligible investors, and the historical results achieved by the fund's respective share classes.

*Source: Morningstar. The Morningstar Rating™ for funds, or "star rating," is calculated for managed products with at least a 3-year history. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance (not including the effects of sales charges, loads and redemption fees if applicable), placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. Managed products, including open-end mutual funds, closed-end funds and exchange-traded funds, are considered a single population for comparative purposes. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its 3-, 5-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. ©2020 Morningstar, Inc.
