

2019 Estimated Spillback Distribution Information

The following funds are projected to make a 2019 spillback distribution. A spillback represents ordinary income and/or a capital gain from the previous fiscal year that was not distributed by the end of that year. In general, funds pay distributions for investment activity through the end of October as such funds with fiscal year ending periods after October must distribute gains from investment activity that occurred after October through the end of a fund's fiscal year.

Spillback distributions are taxable in the year received, even though they represent ordinary income and/or capital gains earned by the funds in the previous year. Spillback distributions will be reported to shareholders on Form 1099-DIV, which will be mailed to shareholders in early 2020.

MBSC Securities Corporation provides these estimates for informational purposes only. Capital gain estimates are not intended or written to be used as tax advice. Because each investor's tax situation is unique, you should consult your tax professional about the federal, state, local, or foreign consequences of this information.

Investors should visit the "Prices" section (located in the "Products and Performance" tab) of dreyfus.com to find historical NAV information for each Dreyfus fund.

Short-term and long-term capital gains are taxed differently, so investors may wish to consider waiting to estimate potential tax liability until more detailed information is released in November. Investors should consider the potential reasonableness of making investment decisions prior to an ex-distribution date.

Each fund's distributions are taxable as ordinary income or capital gains, except when your investment is through an IRA, 401(k) plan or other tax-advantaged investment plan (in which case you may be taxed upon withdrawal of your investment from such account).

Investors should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges, and expenses of the fund carefully before investing.

Download a prospectus, or a summary prospectus, if available, that contains this and other information about the fund, and read it carefully before investing.
